- Anna Reynolds is a member of the Half Dozen Group. She is mostly interested in paintings and drawings that give us an insight into other human beings. She believes that portraiture has a way of capturing aspects of a person which no other genre can. "I love the challenge of trying to capture character, mood, personality and the emotional state of the sitter. I like doing quick gestural sketches, but also studied, realistic oil paintings, almost always from life."

Glenise Clelland is a member of Half Dozen Group based in Brisbane. Glenise is an established prize winning artist who works from her Noosa North Shore art studio and Brisbane. She says she doesn't copy Nature but is "strongly influenced by my environment and often combine my love of the figurative with landscape".
